

German Parachute Among Souvenirs Sent To Family By Major R. Cohen

by Betts Watson

Six-year-old Jonnie Cohen of 73-C Ridge Road, is the envy of the neighborhood boys of all ages every time a package comes from his father, Major Reuben Cohen, stationed with a hospital unit in Bar-le-Duc, France. Offers to trade are numerous as the boxes are opened and the war souvenirs displayed to the gang.

Largest and most spectacular of the treasures is the khaki nylon German parachute, almost intact, with its yards and yards of shiny white cord. Only one small section was damaged by the bullet that brought it down. A dozen boys strategically placed at the edges and body piece can, by running with it, get the chute filled with air so that it rises, billowing in the wind.

A piece of bright red rayon parachute, once used to drop supplies, is earmarked for the family sewing machine. This chute was evidently larger than the khaki one, but only a small piece of it was whole. All the neighborhood boys have a piece of its braided cord, a gift from Jonnie.

A French officer's cap is striking with its scarlet, gold-trimmed top and dark green velvet crown. "Just like General de Gaulle's", the boys maintain. A contrast in headgear is afforded by a heavy black helmet once worn by a German paratrooper.

A collection of empty shell cases came in a German ammunition box. All sorts of arm bands, including red ones bearing the swastika, a collection of coins from England, France, Germany, and Belgium, and a German pocket knife have been sent by this thoughtful father. Real wooden shoes for both Jonnie and his mother, and clever French coloring books for a rainy day are other interesting items from abroad.

Some of Mrs. Marjorie Cohen's prized gifts are a black Wedgwood vase, handmade laces from Belgium, Guerlain toiletries and kid gloves from Paris. Also very attractive are a set of tiny antique silver salt spoons, an old gold locket, and some lovely copper pieces. Major Cohen sent pressed flowers from Bar-le-Duc for Mothers Day, pansies, asters, and forget-me-nots, which Mrs. Cohen has made into a flower print for the living room wall. An interesting bracelet is made from elephant's hair, coated with plastic, and fastened with a gold clasp. Mrs. Cohen's favorite piece of jewelry is a bracelet made with Belgian coins, fastened to part of the chain from Major Cohen's "dog-tag".

Two heavy ornamental iron flower-like pieces will add a touch of the French Renaissance to the Cohen's terrace some day. Four decorated plates have been added to Mrs. Cohen's collection of majolica, two from England and two from France.

Major Cohen, a lawyer before entering the service, has been overseas for 18 months. Two prize snapshots of the Cohen family show the Major at the Dowager Queen Mary's palace taking tea with her and members of an English hospital staff.

27 Co-op Workers Confer On Careers

Twenty-seven Greenbelt store employees attended an all-day cooperative conference at Bethesda on Sunday, June 10. A review of careers in cooperatives was made by Herbert E. Evans, personnel director of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, whom many Greenbelt residents will remember as the man who set up the stores and helped organize the cooperative here when the town was new.

Other speakers were James Dunaway, manager of Rochdale Cooperative; Waino Linna, field man for Eastern Cooperative Wholesale, and Greenbelt's Merton J. Trast, who led a group in discussion of personnel problems.

"Co-op Night", Monday, June 25, 8:15 p. m. at the GCS office, will be devoted to discussion of the Greenbelt Health Association. Anyone interested in GHA is urged to attend.

One of the town's oldest organizations, the Greenbelt Citizens Association, is in its seventh year of service as a sounding board of citizen opinion. Membership is automatically conferred upon all town residents and all work of the Association is done on a voluntary, non-dues-paying basis.

Recent accomplishments of the Association include leading the successful drive in 1943 which secured lowered rents for the families of men inducted into the armed forces, keeping the citizens informed on the progress of the landscaping and sodding program, stimulating town members to vote and furnishing information on legal and procedural requirements, and pointing out the need for sidewalks in the north end.

Association officers and members are presently working on projects of community interest such as continued focussing of attention on needed town improvements, co-operating in efforts to obtain transportation for residents on the edges of town, and exploring the possibilities of bringing direct freight express service to town.

Meetings of the Citizens Association are held on the first Monday of each month in the elementary school. Officers have consistently urged citizens to actively participate in furthering the town's welfare.

Child Care Center Has New Director

Mrs. Catherine Mitchell, of West Chester, Pa. will be in charge of the Child Care Center at 14 Parkway during the absence of Director Marion Anderberg, who is returning to her home in Grand Rapids, Mich. for the summer. Mrs. Mitchell, who has taught in West Chester for the past six years, was employed in Prince Georges County Child Care Centers last summer, and is familiar with the educational procedures of the center.

Mrs. Helen Bussey, a graduate of the University of North Carolina, has also been added to the teaching staff to take the place of Mrs. Byron Candage, recently resigned. Mrs. Bussey conducted a private nursery school in Panama for several years. She and her 4-year-old son Bill moved into 54-D Crescent Road recently.

George Fair Plays Sunday

George Fair, local musician, will give a cello recital at 5 p. m. this Sunday afternoon, June 24, at the Phillips Memorial Art Gallery, 1600 21st st., N. W. He will be assisted by John Wigent. The program will include music by Vivaldi, Bach, Ferroud, Schumann, Granados-Cassado, and David Popper.

Mr. Fair, who is now in the Navy, formerly played with the National Symphony Orchestra.

Greenbelt Makes Stars And Stripes

The Stars and Stripes, army newspaper, carried in its Mediterranean edition on Sunday, June 10, a full page story of Greenbelt under the caption: "Postward world may bring more modern communities like it."

The spread included five pictures of Greenbelt life and a description of the town; the statistics quoted are prewar but the principles of community life and the pictures were indubitably Greenbelt. Since the story appeared without credit we cannot tell who on the Stars and Stripes is so well acquainted with Greenbelt nor explain how such a folio of pictures of our town happened to be in Italy where the edition was printed. The paper was sent to Mr. and Mrs. Leon Newman, 22-F Hillside, by Pfc. Louis Wexler, who was a visitor here before going overseas.

Mgr. Gobbel Says Rents Not Rising

Ceiling rents for the original Greenbelt homes are not being raised, according to a recent statement from Town Manager James T. Gobbel. The semi-annual rent review for all tenants of these homes has been completed, and new leases go into effect July 1. This is the fourth rent review since the new schedule of ceiling rents went into effect two years ago. Defense householders are not subject to rent review.

Under the rent review system, increases and decreases within the limits fixed by FPHA are made in accordance with any changes in the family income since the last review. In case of induction of the head of the family, the tenant usually asks for a rent review, and a new contract is given the first of the following month.

The rental policy calls for a rent review every six months, but this year the administration is experimenting with putting it on a yearly basis.

Air Patrol Prof.

Needs Assistance

Civil Air Patrol instructor Adamson has issued a call for assistant teachers. Any adult experienced in radio, code, first aid, or military discipline is asked to get in touch with Mr. Adamson Monday evenings in Room 223 at the High School, or Sunday afternoon at the airport.

Sgt. Adamson wishes to remind Greenbelters that the civil air patrol training program is open to anyone from 15 to 65, and that the instruction furnished qualifies students for both private and commercial licenses. The thirty subjects covered in the ground school curriculum include a study of the airplane engine, maintenance, meteorology, and navigation.

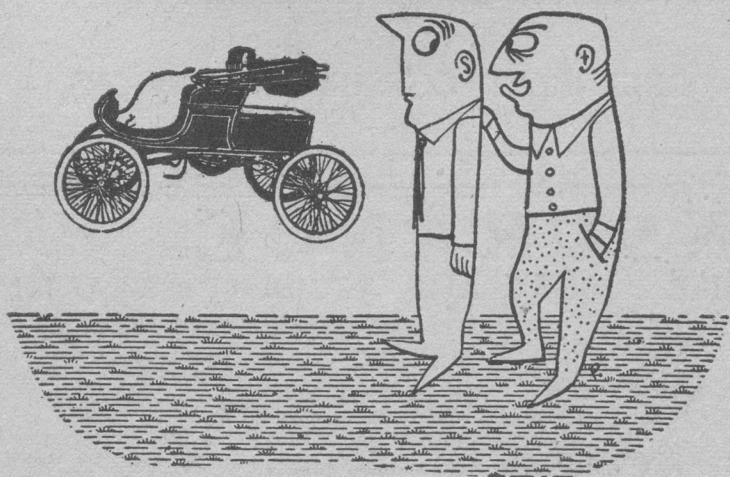

GCS Price Check

Begins Next Week

Price checking of goods and services offered in the Greenbelt stores in comparison with those in competitive situations will get under way this week, Donald H. Cooper, education committee chairman of the GCS board, announces.

"Only sporadic and partial checks have been made on the prices that Greenbelt shoppers have to pay for the things they buy here and out of town," he told the Co-operator. "Official spot-checks give us assurance that all OPA regulations are being complied with here, but we are interested in something more than that. Competitive prices are a part of Greenbelt Consumer Services policy, and we want to furnish enough information to enable the directors and management of the Co-op to keep closely in line with that policy."

Greenbelt Artist's One-Man Show Wins Praise, Public Recognition

On exhibit for the month of June at the 8th and K st. Public Library are 25 crayon and pen drawings by Benjamin Abramowitz of 3-L Gardenway. Indicative of the interest provoked by his work is an invitation from Station WOL for an interview in the near future.

The Washington Post says of this young artist's works, "Somber in theme, they are occasionally so dark and heavy they seem to weigh down the paper. The best of them are so good that they lift the show above the average." The Evening Star calls his art "curiously timeless", remarking that "the Jewish types have the appearance of the immigrants who came to this country during many decades. Facial expressions in character studies are well differentiated, not only in the Jewish subjects, but also in others." Of a drawing showing two women cowering in the rubble of a ruined home, the Star remarks, "... the expression on the women's faces, along with the background, makes up the type of picture which photography cannot yet achieve. The detonation of such an explosion as the artist has drawn, would make it impossible for the camera to record, judging from explanations on Government made war films, such as that of the U.S.S. Franklin."

Abramowitz has a position as cartographer with the Soil Conservation Service at Beltsville.

Out Into The Light

Twenty years ago science discovered how to eliminate rickets forever. Yet 4 out of 10 children today, when tested by advanced diagnostic methods, show the symptoms. This declaration is made in the current issue of "This Month", which blames the situation upon a super-monopoly of manufacturers and distributors who find it exceedingly to their advantage to dilute, limit and rigidly control the Sunshine Vitamin D.

The June 11 "Cooperator" put out by the Eastern Cooperative League prints a digest of this article, which we feel every parent should read and weigh.

The stranglehold which the Vitamin D monopoly has on our national health was first exposed by the Department of Justice October 1944 in the Federal District Court of Chicago ("Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation vs. Rene Douglas") "The chances are", the article comments, "that your family doctor, probably even your local pediatrician has to this day not heard a word . . . So far the medical journals have not exposed the appalling situation . . ." The members of the cartel "operate in secrecy because they include some of the biggest advertisers in the world". Some of the licensees mentioned in the briefs on the case are Dupont, Parke-Davis, Johnson, Abbott, Squibb, Winthrop, Vitamins Inc., Standard Brands, Borden, Carnation, Pet Dry Milk, Nestles, Quaker Oats and Wander (Ovaltine).

Rickets could have been scientifically wiped out a generation ago by supplying Vitamin D to the whole population in milk and bread. But the "Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation" (repudiated by the University of Wisconsin) sells milk and bread companies the right to call their products "irradiated" only if the Vitamin D content is kept so low that it cannot act as a cure for rickets, it came out at the trial.

For their concentrated product the Foundation makes profits ranging from 1,000 to 7,000 per cent. Retail prices for one million units costing 15 cents to make range from $1.25 to $19.45. Drug wholesalers trying to sell the vitamin at reasonable prices have been blacklisted, and scientific research and patents showing how to produce "D" more cheaply have been suppressed.

One of the damning pieces of evidence brought out in the exposure of the Foundation concerns the discovery, in 1934, that large doses of Vitamin D were beneficial in certain cases of asthma and arthritis. For the medical profession the Foundation had to supply a high-potency capsule at a price per million units much lower than that of products sold to treat crippled children: otherwise only millionaires could take the treatment. The cartel executives had a meeting, the memorandum of which was later discovered by the FBI. Here it is revealed that the cartel's experts, fearful lest doctors and nurses would discover how to open the "arthritis capsules", dilute the concentrated Vitamin D, and cure children of rickets at a reasonable cost, decided to denature the new product with a dangerous drug (ephedrine) to effectively prevent any such use.

The sabotage of medical science by cartels powerful enough to thwart the medical profession and unscrupulous enough to violate minimum standards of human decency, declares Dyson Carter, writer of the article, is one of the greatest health problems we face today.

Community Church

"How To Go To Church" will be the subject of the sermon to be preached by the Rev. Wilmer Pierce Johnston Sunday morning at the Community Church. Our Junior Choir, which has been revived under the leadership of Betty Arrington, Dale Downs and Joanne Rogers, will sing at our morning service. Their singing will supplement the regular choir under the direction of Mr. Arleigh Westerbeck, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Hester Neff. Mrs. Katie Barili will be in the vestibule to welcome the children whose parents wish to leave them while they worship in the main auditorium.

OUR NEIGHBORS

Hi friends, the heat's on.

Patsy and Phil Hesse are away to spend the summer in the dairy-land State of Wisconsin. They will stay with their aunt in Greenbay.

Another traveler away from this humid part of the country is Mrs. Richard White who, with her son Richard has gone to Maine for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sheaffer have been visiting in New York.

Mrs. Addie Sowell decided to skip the tripping part and spend her vacation in Greenbelt.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ott and Joyce are off to Cleveland, Ohio where they are visiting relatives.

A visitor from Pittsburgh, Pa. is Mrs. Kate Plackett who is here with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Plackett.

Fun at Lake Champlain, New York is in order for Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grace and Barbara. They will visit relatives up there.

Dr. Norman Olson of Parkbelt reports that the fishing is good. He spent a day out on the Chesapeake last week and experienced phenomenal good biting.

Mrs. Ben Goldfaden honored her aunt, Mrs. Cynthia Gurley of Bethesda with a birthday party on Sunday. Those attending were Mrs. Gurley's daughters Jocelyn and Courtney, Miss Anne Brandes, Mrs. Grace Brandes and Miss Helen Holbrook.

Lou, Treva and Jimmy Morrison are having fun vacationing down in North Carolina.

The Tom Ritchie's are expecting to travel north to New Haven, Connecticut. Mrs. Caroline Miller and Janet plan to go along as far as New York where they will spend a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Castaldi and family of 13-V Ridge Road are leaving this Sunday for a three weeks vacation.

Master David Flynn of 14-Y Ridge Road celebrated his fifth birthday on Tuesday, the 19th, with a cake for some of his little friends and neighbors.

Miss Marjorie Sallie, Assistant Principal of Ashley Hall, Charleston, S. C., was a week-end house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Jorgenson, 2-T Laurel Hill. While here, Miss Sallie sponsored her god-son Hans Eric Jorgenson, who was baptized Sunday. The Jorgensons entertained at tea for the grandparents of Hans Eric, their relatives and friends.

Stanley Fickes of 60-J Crescent Road had as his guests this week, Ralph and David Longway, who have just returned to this country from three years of interment by the Japanese at Baguio and Bilibid Prisons.

Mrs. Goldie Parker of Chicago is visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Parker of 42-B Crescent Road. This is the first time Mrs. Parker has met her granddaughter, Sharon.

Donna Romer and the children, Sharon and Jerry, have gone to Toledo, Ohio, for the summer.

The Arthur Wetters are entertaining Mrs. Wetter's nephew, Ivan Goldfarb, from Lexington, Ky. Her father, David Goldfarb from New York, also paid them a visit recently.

Miss Margaret Doyle of Columbia, S. C. spent the past two weeks with the Featherby's as a guest of Patricia.

Mrs. Frank Geirmann entertained the Monday afternoon sewing circle Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. G. J. Cummins who is leaving Greenbelt shortly. Additional guests were Mrs. John Mitchell and Mrs. Max Armstrong. A gift was presented to the guest of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Duter, 47-C Ridge Road had as a guest recently Mr. Duter's brother, Corporal Rex Duter, U.S.M.C., 3rd Division. Corporal Duter, a veteran of Guam, Bougainville and Iwo Jima stopped on his way to Milwaukee, Wisconsin where he will spend the remainder of a thirty day furlough. America looked pretty good to him after twenty-four months overseas.

Citizens Discuss Voting Procedure

Two films and the ins and outs of local town voting highlighted the meeting of the Greenbelt Citizens Association recently.

A trip on the Pan-American highway through the country of South America was the subject of the first film, while "Battle of China", one of the series of "Why We Fight" documentary films made by the U. S. Army, closed the meeting.

According to the town charter, Mayor Morrison pointed out that the qualifications for voting in the town elections were residence in Greenbelt for 6 months and in Maryland for one year prior to the date of election. A voter must be 21 years of age or older, and must register with the town clerk not later than September 2, 1945, in order to vote for a councilman. A previous registration is valid for this year's election, provided the elector has voted in the last two elections. If he has not, he must re-register. In order to run for

Lee and Dick Duter accompanied their uncle to Milwaukee where they will spend the summer with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Duter.

Lt. and Mrs. Dean J. Slye and daughter Deanne are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Slye and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Trucksess have moved to Herndon, Va. Mrs. Trucksess formerly taught in the Greenbelt High School and will take up her teaching at the Herndon High School. All their old neighbors in the No. 3 Court on Crescent Road miss them.

Chips McCarthy celebrated his second birthday on Wednesday by entertaining the pre-kindergarten group of No. 6 Court, Ridge Road, with ice cream and cake.

office, he must file a petition signed by not less than 3% of the total of the last registration. Each signer must be a registered town elector, and may not sign more than one petition. The last registration totaled approximately 500 voters, according to Mayor Morrison. A fee of $3.00 is required to file a petition, and the deadline for it is September 2, 1945.

Gene Roberts Weds Lt. Of Netherlands Marine

Miss Gene Roberts, daughter of Major and Mrs. Orville E. Roberts, formerly of 4-A Ridge Road and now residing in Denton, Md., was married Saturday, June 2, to Lt. Henrico Engels of Her Majesty's Dutch Marines in the Denton Episcopal Church. Under Dutch law the groom had to secure royal permission to marry.

The bride was given away by her father, recently returned from the Marianas, while her sister, Mrs. Patricia R. Burroughs of Quantico, Va., acted as matron of honor. Lt. George Hilt of Camp Le Jeune, also of Her Majesty's Dutch Marines, was Lt. Engel's best man. Among the guests was the bride's brother, Major Robert Roberts, just returned from duty in the European Theater. Other guests familiar to Greenbelters were C. M. Whittaker and his wife, who will be principal at the North End School this fall, and the Misses Dorothy and Jean Burton of 4-C Ridge Road, former neighbors of the bride.

Resident Directs Boys Club Bouts

Rating a high priority among the sports offered by the Prince Georges Police Boys Club is boxing, of which Greenbelt resident Kenneth Maschauer, well-known in Washington boxing circles, is instructor for all units comprising the county-wide organization.

Under Maschauer's guidance the club has produced Silver Gloves champions in 1941-42-44; Junior Golden Gloves winners in 1941-42-45; and Golden Gloves title-holders in 1941-42-43, as well as winners in the A.A.U. contests in 1941-42.

Greenbelt boys who have shared in building up the boxing reputation of the club include John Martone, James Townsend, Richard Lewis, Bob Sullivan, John and Bob Belton, Ralph Longanecker, Bob O'Mahoney, Wayne Jernberg, Bob Fisher, Bob Goodall, Jack Morrison, Leslie Haggerty, H. M. Good, and David Wyant.

The Club is presently engaged in an annual drive for funds to provide operating expenses, with a goal of ten thousand dollars, about half of which has been subscribed. Contributions are asked especially of individual families, no matter how small, it being one of the club's purposes to maintain and encourage the interest of as many parents in the unit's work as is possible.

Membership in the club is open to all Prince Georges County Boys. No admission fee or charges of any kind are levied against members.

Within the last year the club has moved its boxing facilities from the old quarters at Bladensburg to a new and vastly improved location in Colmar Manor, where the conversion of an old store into a modern athletic plant affords Maschauer full room and equipment to supply as many boys as care to participate. Since the opening night some months past about 30 to 50 boys pack the gymnasium on Tuesday and Friday nights when Maschauer holds classes.

Besides a regulation ring, the gymnasium has other exercising facilities such as striking bags, weights, cycle exercisers, dumbbells, Indian clubs, etc. The basement floor has an ample set of lockers and contains sufficient new showers to care for the athletes' needs.

"AND NOW—"

—FOR THE OTHER HALF OF THE JOB!

Japan is still powerful. A hard, bitter struggle lies ahead for our fighting men. There must be no let-down at home in the effort to supply them with everything they need for the job before them.

Much telephone service will yet be used in the production and shipping of arms and supplies. Enormous quantities of telephone equipment and wire must still go to battle fronts.

The burden on the telephone system will remain heavy and it may be some time, even after final victory, before we can supply service to all who are waiting for it.

If you are among these, we greatly appreciate your patience and understanding.

Ernie Boggs In Fine Flinging Form As John Newman And Pete Scalise Slug 'Rocks To 10-1 Win Over Hyattsville

Magruder Park, Hyattsville, June 17 - Vince Holochwost's Greenbelt Shamrocks returned to town after a lapse of exactly three years and defeated Bill Cecil's Hyattsville nine by a score of 10 to 1 while Bob McIntyre sparked Snug Harbor to a 17 - 1 win over the County Policemen at Shady Oak. The loop leaders swap opponents for next Sunday's games in final workouts before clashing in the league's biggest game at Greenbelt on July 1.

This was the scene of Holochwost's 10-0 triumph in his last game with the 'Rocks before entering the Navy in June '42. In the upper portion of the seventh inning it was 10-0 Greenbelt and it seemed history was repeating. John Kuhl reached Ernie Boggs for a lusty three-bagger in the home half of the inning and was squeezed home for the shut-out spoiler.

That hit was the second off Boggs and all Hyattsville got for the afternoon. The husky Ernest had a sneaky fast ball and a sharp breaking curve as he made his first start of the season. He walked

Canning Classes Dropped

No canning classes are planned for this summer, according to Mary Jane Kinzer, director of education, as the funds under which the classes were held for the past two years are no longer available. If the class were set up under adult education, an enrollment of 15 persons would be required, and an attendance of at least 10 each day. Uncertainty of garden crops and market conditions would make it impossible to maintain the required enrollment, Mrs. Kinzer believes. Many persons previously enrolled in the canning classes have purchased pressure cookers at the variety store recently.

THREE "MUSTS"

The situation on the three bills we spoke of the last time, the permanent FEPC, Anti-Poll Tax, and Price Control renewal, has not changed radically since our last writing. The Anti-Poll tax bill has passed the House, and is now in the hands of the Senate Judiciary Committee (Ch. Pat McCarran of Nevada). A five-man subcommittee, headed by Hatch of New Mexico has been appointed to handle the bill. As we pointed out last time the danger involved in the handling of this bill does not lie in how it will be voted on but whether it will be voted on. The ideas of democratic procedure which are held by some of the so-called representatives of the South accord more with those promulgated by Hitler and Tojo, than with those of Thomas Jefferson, whom they so loudly hail as their leader, and whose principles they so rarely follow; accordingly they have resolved to filibuster the bill if and when it reaches the Senate floor, and the procedure will undoubtedly be the same when and if the FEPC bill comes up. Write your Senator now to vote for cloture (limitation of debate) when the Anti-Poll Tax bill reaches the Senate floor. This is the only way in which a filibuster can be stopped, and the bill given a fighting chance.

The FEPC bill has been tied up by a 6 to 6 vote in the Rules Committee of the House. Congresswoman Mary Norton's discharge petition still lacks about 80 signatures to get the bill out of the Rules Committee, so if your representative has not already signed it, let him know that you want him to. As far as the Price Control Renewal Act is concerned, it is now in the House Banking and Currency Committee, after having been passed by the Senate with two amendments incorporated into it, neither of which do it any good, and the Wherry amendment, definitely a harmful change. The Bond Committee is due to report on the bill Wednesday, and it is just possible that the Wherry amendment (which allows unlimited upward adjustment of farm product prices) will be knocked out in the Committee's report. If it is not, it will be up to all of us to get after our congressmen to see that this amendment is not incorporated into the bill. The same goes for the other amendment, known as the Barkley amendment, which allows a large series of subsidies to live-stock producers, with increases in the ceilings of live-stock, but a definite prohibition of retail increases. The danger here lies not so much in the provisions of the amendment, as in the fact that its approval will be an almost tacit approval of the Wherry amendment, which would really mean the start of inflation if passed. A committee of House members has taken over the work of the Scanlon committee of the last session, and is actively working to see that the Price Control bill is passed without any amendments, the only way that we consumers can be assured of getting a halfway decent break in our struggle with the grocer, baker and butcher, etc. The name of the committee is the Congressional Committee for the Protection of the Consumer, and is headed by Rep. Aime Forand of Rhode Island. Write to him for any information

Supt. Shugart Explains New Junior Hi Set-up

Members of the recent panel to discuss the new twelve-year school plan were Catherine Read, county supervisor; Gardner Shugart, county superintendent; Alma Feinly and Hester Neff, parents, and students Marlene Goldstein, Helen Jagger and Arthur Morin.

The junior high school candidates were promised a gradual introduction to the high school type of study. Each group will have one home room teacher who will continue to teach them the subjects pertaining to the general course, as in elementary school, while half of the day will be devoted to special subjects each taught by teachers who are specialized in these studies.

Mr. Shugart stated that this year the junior high would consist of only seventh and eighth grade pupils. Next year, however, the six, three and three set-up will be put into operation. He said that hopes were high for a separate building for the junior high students but nothing definite was planned.

Jewish Appeal Nets $511

A collection of $511 was raised here at the first workers' meeting for the United Jewish Appeal, addressed by Rabbi Solomon Metz.

A tabulation of additional contributions is being made tonight in the Social Room of the elementary school.

An opportunity to assist in this emergency relief will be made available to all citizens through the cooperation of General Manager Sam Ashelman and Managers Tom Okazaki and Jack Fruchtmann, of Greenbelt Consumer Services, who have made space available in the Food Store on Monday and Tuesday and in the theatre lobby on the same evenings to workers who will be on hand to accept contributions.

Canteen Meeting Called

Mrs. D. J. Neff, chairman of the Red Cross Canteen Unit in Greenbelt has called a meeting of all members to be held at her home, 3-D Ridge Road, Monday, June 25, 8:15 p. m. This is a very important meeting. Mrs. Neff urges all members to attend or notify her if they are unable to do so.

about the committee and what you can do to help. The bill will probably come up on the House floor on Friday.

FEDERAL PAY RAISE

Just a word about something near and dear to the hearts of the many G-workers in this town. The pay raise bill has passed the House with a provision for true overtime pay (time and a half) and is now being worked over by the Senate Civil Service Committee. Chairman Downey is in favor of it (it was part of his original bill) and it can be passed by the Senate if it is made known to the Senators that their constituents want the U. S. Government to pay its employees on the same basis that it demands industry pay its employees.

We've got a lot more stuff on the Veterans Administration, social insurance, reconversion, etc. but space as usual is limited. Keep your eye peeled for our column next Friday.

Scouts Honor Leaders

The leaders and members of District Organization No. 1 gathered at the home of Mrs. Harry Rhodes last Thursday to honor Mrs. Louis C. Duncan and Mrs. John Sandy, who are moving from Greenbelt. In appreciation for the work they have done with their respective troops and for the organization, bookends were presented to each of them.

As a special surprise to Mrs. Lloyd Nelson, Chairman of the District organization for the past two years, a thank you badge was given by the leaders of Girl Scouts and Brownies in Greenbelt. This attractive enameled pin is presented only for outstanding service in the field of Scouting and is considered one of the highest honors obtainable for Scout work.

Leave Goodwill Articles At Parkway Basement

Mrs. George Clarke has announced that material for the Goodwill Industries may be left at 12-L Parkway in the basement locker. Discarded clothing, household articles, books, toys, anything which is no longer of use to the householder but can be salvaged is welcomed. These articles are used by the Goodwill Industries to provide employment for disabled persons and are re-sold to the underprivileged through retail outlets in Washington. There is no profit to the organization, all the money going back into the working of the establishment.

Buy Co-op, Says Ashelman

The Monday evening discussion group recently held a taste testing session and sampled Co-op tomatoes, beans and peas.

Besides being economical buys, Co-op products offer a more profitable sales margin to the store, General Manager Ashelman pointed out, adding that members also build the foundation for securing their own factories when they buy Co-op.

The Monday evening meetings of local cooperators, featured by discussion and winding up with refreshments, grew out of the weekly gatherings of the Co-op share sellers during the drive.

Catholic Paper Salvage Revises Pickup Schedule

There will be no paper collection for the Catholic bus fund this Saturday, and beginning Saturday, June 30, collection will be made every other week. Mrs. May Zoellner, chairman of the Catholic Parents paper drive, asks that paper, magazines, and cardboard be tied securely in separate bundles.

The revised schedule of stops is as follows: 3-G Crescent, Garage No. 6 at 7 Crescent, Garage No. 10 at 9 Ridge, 13-Q Ridge, 14-Y, 17-E, 20-Q, 21-M, 23 Ridge, Garage No. 2 at 33 Ridge, 39 and 45-A Ridge, Garage No. 5 at 2 Northway, and 11-G Southway.

Northenders may leave their paper at 51 Ridge, 6-M Plateau, 55-F Ridge, 4-T, 2-C, 11-B Laurel Hill, 9 Research, 73-A Ridge, 2-A Research, 12-H Hillside, and 6 Hillside.

LIMITED INTEREST ON CAPITAL —

IN A COOPERATIVE, capital is considered a necessary tool in the business operations. A rental (interest) is paid for the use of this tool. Capital is never permitted to control or dominate the business.

CAPITAL STOCK is not entitled to all of the savings of the business, only a stated amount. Therefore the stock remains out of the speculative market.

FIVE PERCENT INTEREST is paid by Greenbelt Consumers Services for the use of the shareholder's money, — no more regardless of savings. GREENBELTERS expressed their confidence in G. C. S. recently when they subscribed $28,000 capital during the 6 weeks drive.
